Knights of the Round-Up Give Classy Exhibition of Wild Western Sports Before a Record-Breaking Crowd

OPENING DAY IS GREAT SUCCESS

First Regiment Band Scores With Splendid Concert—Many State Officials and Phoenixians Are in Attendance

(Special to The Republican.)
PRESCOTT, July 3.—Lowering clouds and murky weather failed to deter the attendance of over 1000 people at the fair grounds this afternoon. During three solid hours of the classic kind of wild western entertainment, Harry Knight of Phoenix and Jack Webb of Camp Wood carried off the lion's share of honors and prize money.

Knight qualified for the final round in the world's championship bucking contest and took first honors in the steer bull-dogging and third honors in the fancy roping. Webb qualified for the final round in the world's championship bucking contest, took first honors in the fast roping feature and all but won the pony race. A nifty, fancy riding exhibition by Jack Vanness was one of the features. Dr. Francis H. Redewill's First Regiment band drew down the applause of the throng more than once.

Four of the nine contestants qualified for Monday's final round in the world's championship bucking contest. Aside from Knight and Webb, the successful ones were "Doc" Pardee and John Fredericks. Five fell by the wayside either through being dismounted, losing stirrups or failing to comply with the rules of the contest.

Five cowboys, Harry Henderson, Mal Omeara, W. Y. Peck, "Doc" Pardee and Lon Jordan qualified for the final rounds in bareback riding, but two riders were disqualified. Jasen Stanley defeated Jack Webb in an exciting two-mile pony express race. Webb losing the event through his own carelessness.

Hallie Booth, a local high school girl won the 400-yard pony dash from Mrs. Oscar Wolcott and Miss Louise Goswick.

speed-innoculated steers resulted in a temporary discontinuance of the event. Harry Knight was the only successful entrant to throw a steer in the bull dogging contest. His time was 56 seconds.

Jack Webb took first money in the fancy and trick roping contest with "Doc" Pardee second and Jack Knight third.

Phoenixians are already ruling in the majority among the visiting throngs. They will be far in the lead when the two excursions come in tomorrow.

There was only a slight drizzle of rain this morning when Frontier day started to slowly open, and this was comparatively fine, for from the downpours of the last few days it was feared that there would be interference on the part of old J. Plu-met and left the liberal party never to return to it.

He, Lord Hartington (afterwards the Duke of Devonshire, G. J. Goschen and others high in the liberal party who saw in their former leader's home rule proposals and propaganda a menace to the integrity of the empire, formed a new party to resist them. They called themselves liberal unionists and anti-home rule was, in the beginning, their main tenet. Lord Hartington was the first leader but when he was elevated to the peerage through the death of his father, Mr. Chamberlain was chosen the party's chief.

Meanwhile Mr. Chamberlain had visited the United States, November 1887 to February 1888, as the head of the British representatives upon the American-British joint high commission which was to negotiate a treaty for the settlement of the long standing fisheries dispute.

A treaty was signed but the United States senate refused to ratify it. Late in 1888, Mr. Chamberlain returned to the United States, this time to be married. Having been twice a widower he took as his third wife Miss Mary Endicott, daughter of William C. Endicott, President Cleveland's secretary of war.

During the campaign of 1892 Mr. Chamberlain worked with great effect, and subsequently in the commons he was to the forefront in all the assaults on the Irish government bill, and clashed frequently with Mr. Gladstone. The home rulers considered him a renegade and this ranking he aggravated by his rasping tactics. During debate on the bill, one night in July 1893, Mr. Gladstone tartly compared him with "the Devil's advocate." The next night, in debate Mr. Chamberlain retorted so caustically that T. P. O'Connor yelled at him "Judah! Judah!" followed presently by a free fight on the floor between several members—a rare outbreak in probably the most staid legislative body in the world—accompanied by vigorous hissing by the galleries.

The Birmingham man with the monocle and long aquiline nose (both the delight of the English caricaturists); the keen head and the forceful tongue; the faultlessly fashionable attire topped off invariably with a white orchid in the coat lapel was now a commanding figure at Westminster. On the formation of the coalition conservative and unionist ministry in 1895 he took office under Lord Salisbury as colonial secretary. In this position his remarkable powers were severely tested by South Africa—the chain of strenuous events beginning with Jameson's hare-brained raid, and ending, when Lord Kitchener had worn down the stubborn Boer resistance, with the treaty of Vereeniging—but he stood the test. His enemies, too, savagely assailed him as being the adroit tool of the Rand gold mine owners and his course toward the Afrikaners was a leading issue in the campaign of 1900 and during 1901. But he was the object of great popular demonstrations before his visit to South Africa late in 1902 on a mission of conciliation and observation and also on his return early in 1903.

The war and the elections over he set himself the task of fostering the relations between the mother country and the colonies. The constitution for the Australian commonwealth was one of his productions.

Just before his 67th birthday Chamberlain launched his scheme of fiscal reform, which partly succeeded in splitting the unionist party. It was in May and at Birmingham that he announced his new policy, and finding in September that his party was not ready for so radical a change, he designed to devote himself to popularizing his doctrines. He fought the cause with a genius, eloquence, energy and organization, never equalled in any previous movement in his career, but his party wavered and went down to defeat in the election of 1906. The one bright spot for the unionist party, during those dark days, was Birmingham and vicinity, where Chamberlain carried his candidates to victory.

Will Arizona have an exhibit at the International Dry Farming congress at Wichita this year?

That is the question that is up to the boards of trade and similar organizations, including the boards of supervisors of the various counties.

The matter of funds for a display of Arizona products will be taken up and discussed at a conference at Prescott between Gov. Hunt, Malcolm Fraser, secretary of the Prescott chamber of commerce, and Prof. A. M. McComie, superintendent of farmer's institute work at the university, and representatives of boards of trade and others who may be interested. It is hoped that the co-operation of the county supervisors can be secured, and the necessary funds raised to assure an exhibit of dry farming products at the congress next fall.

Last year there was a special appropriation for this purpose, and the Arizona exhibit at Tulsa, Oklahoma, scored a big success. This year no state funds are available and it will be up to the live wires of the state to see that a sufficient amount is raised to put Arizona products on display at Wichita, October 7-17.

UNIQUE CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR CHANDLER

CHANDLER, July 3.—The southside town, with its usual enterprising spirit, will present on July 4 a list of features that will appeal to every one.

There will be baseball, foot races, horse races, barbeque, swimming, Indian baby show, fireworks, moving pictures on the San Marcos roof garden, dancing, speeches, and what not. An added feature of unusual interest will be a race for life when three coyotes will be liberated in advance of a pack of hounds.

All indications point to the biggest crowd Chandler has ever seen. Everyone is invited, and if you don't vote this Fourth one of the best ever spent, the committee will have worked in vain.

This race is run over a course that is made up of roads of every description, a long dusty, desert grind; rocky, rugged, steep mountain roads.
